The Limited Edition “Alinghi” and “Americas Cup”
With a limited edition in two different looks, Nespresso demonstrates that the offshore yacht and defender of the America's cups, the formidable “Alinghi”, and a coffee machine have more in common than one at first glance would be inclined to believe.

As an exclusive offer for club members, Nespresso has issued a limited edition (in two variations) of a brand-new and perfectly designed coffee machine: The “Alinghi” and the “America's Cup”, both dedicated to the eponymous yachting icons. The same material that makes the “Alinghi” technologically a genuine seafaring work of art was also used for both the machines: carbon, a high-tech material from which both the yacht's hull and the two machines were made, in the latter case with a handmade front panel. While the material is indispensable for the yacht for reasons of lightness and resilience, it was used for the coffee machines also because of its exquisite look. As with the yacht, pure lines and a clear design concept also determine the look of the machines. The cube-shape and rounded edges give both the “Alinghi” and the “America's Cup” a compact and elegant look, while allowing enough space for highly functional details such as the tray for the cups with integrated heating plates on both sides of the brewing unit. State-of-the-art technology guarantees efficient and easy handling. Thanks to technical features such as the compact brewing unit, the automatic capsule ejection, and the programmable cup capacity for either Espresso or Lungo, perfect coffee enjoyment on a supreme level is but a few simple steps away. For Nespresso addicts and sailing aficionados both the “Alinghi” and the “America's Cup” (with the slightly more compact brewing head as a design accent) are quite the ideal coffee machines.
